

welcome to elmhurst college!

Whether your purpose is business or pleasure, we hope your visit will be pleasant and profitable, and we invite you to enjoy our campus facilities and services.

Elmhurst College was founded in 1871. During its early years, the College was primarily a pro-seminary, preparing men for entrance into seminary. In 1919, it was reorganized as Elmhurst Academy and Junior College. Five years later, in 1924, Elmhurst became a senior college offering a Bachelor of Arts program. Coeds arrived on the scene for the first time in 1930.

Today, Elmhurst College is attended by nearly 1700 men and women from approximately 35 states and 15 foreign countries. An additional 1200 people from the Chicago metropolitan area attend the Evening Session, which offers a complete baccalaureate program to those unable to attend classes during the day. A summer session annually attracts over 1100 students.

Affiliated with the United Church of Christ, Elmhurst College is non-sectarian in its teaching. Students from nearly every major religious denomination are enrolled.

The 34-acre campus and its buildings reflect the influences of both nineteenth and twentieth century architecture. The oldest building, Kranz Hall, was constructed in 1873. The newest building, Stanger Hall, an air-conditioned residence hall for women, was completed in 1968. One-half of the major classroom and residence facilities have been erected since 1956. The Buehler Library, now under construction, is designed to house 200,000 volumes to serve the needs of a rapidly growing college.

For the use and convenience of visitors requiring overnight accommodations, a listing of several nearby hotels and motels is provided. Prices and facilities listed are as of March 1969.
